

Please follow this link:

<http://www.realclimate.org/index.php/archives/2009/08/ups-and-downs-of-sea-level-projections/comment-page-1/#comment-134942>

This was a comment written to a blog post in August, 2009 of which I was the second author.

The use of the word "trick" to describe, innocently, a clever way of doing something in science, was appropriate then and I stand by it today. I highly respect Drs John Church and Neil White, and wouldn't dream of accusing them, even implicitly, of scientific dishonesty.

[The annotated text from the blog post has been removed prior to publication of this submission]

Sincerely,

Martin Vermeer